CARVERS CREEK METHODIST CHURCH

Carvers Creek Methodist Church is located on the site of oldest religious settlement in Bladen County.

This area was settled by James Carver in 1740.

In 1743, the Friends (Quakers) asked for a Monthly Meeting. In 1746, the Monthly Meeting was settled. This Meeting belonged to the Eastern Quarter. James Carver gave land to establish a meeting place and a burying ground. The settlement was called Carver's Creek

In 1749-1952, the following families were represented there: Carver, Clayton, Benbow, Beals, Ballinger, Channes, Cox, Kemp, Mayer, Matthews, Sommers, Wright, Clark. Most of these came from the Fairfax Monthly Meeting in Virginia. Carvers and Benbows came from Pennsylvania.

This Meeting continued until 1797. We know little of its history for many of its records are lost. Some went West, others to Guilford and Randolph Counties, N. C.¹

James Carver in his Will dated February 27, 1753 devises two acres of land "where the meeting house now stands, to our Society of People called Quakers."²

Edward Jones in his Will dated October 8, 1751 gives to Carvers Creek Meeting ten pounds.³

Joseph Humphrey in his Will dated October 14, 1752 gives three pounds to Carvers Creek Meeting.⁴

The Quakers of Carver's Creek Monthly Meeting gave their meeting house to the Methodist who were coming into this section of North Carolina. The Methodist have a church on the site of the Quaker meeting house and it is one of the strongest congregations in the county.⁵

For many years the Methodists worshiped in a small frame building in front of the present church.

It was largely through the generosity of the late Andrew Jones and through the sacrificial spirit of the church membership, the present church was built in 1859 by Mr. Alexander "Sandy" Carter who was recognized as the best carpenter in this section of the county. The first church service in the new building was begun by singing that old hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." Dr. Charles F. Deems, famous scholar, educator, and clergyman, who at that time was the presiding elder, preached the sermon.⁶

This church has continued to grow. In 1971 this historic old church won a Randolph E. DuMont Design Award.⁷

Today a host of dead sleep in the church cemetery. Many of them eminent in the history of the Cape Fear section.

There have recently been placed markers with these initials

N. G. D.

M. L. D.

M. E. D.

H. L. D.

There are apparently many old graves not marked at the present time, some of them have perhaps worn away with the passage of time.

There are many field stones which mark the early Quaker graves. They have no inscriptions, names or dates.

To those who read this booklet: If you have information that will help identify any unmarked graves, please furnish that information to Wanda S. Campbell, Box 848, Elizabethtown, N. C., 28337.
