Historical Notes Concerning Hickory Mountain United Methodist Church

Pastor Charles S. Hubbard, 1983

Although Methodism was first introduced in North Carolina in the eastern part of the state, Frances Asbury visited Chatham as early as 1780. He entered from the east in a light one horse carriage with Frances Poythress as guide. He crossed, or rather forded, North East Creek, Haw and Rocky River in fear of his life, and reported he had never seen such rocky and desolate country. He crossed Deep River on a flat boat and wrote the ferry man cursed him because he did not have a schilling to pay. Before 1798, he visited Chatham two more times on horseback.

In 1798, Bishop Asbury again rode toward Chatham from the northeast and entered the country on what was then known as the Cumberland Road, a simple cart-track that meandered from Fayetteville toward Guilford Courthouse and Salem. On this trip the Bishop made the important statement for us that he rode thirty miles to reach the new meeting house on Hickory Mountain. It was called Hickory Mountain Chapel. He was obviously expected, for he writes that he stopped there and preached and then dined with his friend, Thomas Reeves (The details of this visit are recorded in Asbury's Journal, and is also mentioned in Methodism in North Carolina, Vol. 1, page 215, W.L. Grissom.).

I find no deed in evidence of Hickory Mountain Chapel in the Chatham County Courthouse, so I must infer that the Chapel was probably a log building, either constructed or used on the personal property of one of the members for the purpose of Methodist Worship.

Until now in the process of this research I find no record of the person, Thomas Reeves. However his name would be recorded in those early records only in the transfer of real property. However, I note there are several black Reeves families now residing in Chatham County, and one is a Thomas Reeves. Most slaves took the surnames of their masters when freed.

In the year 1800, Bishop Asbury again visited Chatham County. He entered from Wake County and crossed the Haw River on the Redfield Ferry. An earlier source claims the bishop erred in his Journal, and crossed the Haw on the old Redfield ford (But Chatham County 1771-1971, p. 151 reports that in February 1778, a permit was given for a ferry over Haw River near the Redfield Ford.). I emphasize this tiny point to witness that Bishop Asbury was not careless in his Journal.

Crossing the Haw, the Bishop records that he rode 14 miles to the Reeves homes, and then on to Hickory Mountain Chapel. Here he ordained as deacon a William "Masters." Again I find no "Masters" in the Chatham County deed books in this time frame. But according to Randolph County records, many families of "McMasters" lived there in 1800, and it is quite probable that "William Masters" is really William McMasters who sold a piece of property on Deep River in Randolph County in 1834. And by this time, the McMasters clan did have representations in Chatham (I have in evidence a portion of a deed attached, dated 1832. Maybe the Bishop did make a slight error in his report on McMasters descendent.).

After this fifth visit to Chatham County, Bishop Asbury headed north on the Cumberland Road and never again returned to this area.

By the year 1800, Hickory Mountain Chapel was part of the Haw River Circuit (The early ministers of this Circuit are recorded in the Historical Archives at the Methodist Building in Raleigh, NC).

We, living in the year 1983, must realize that Chatham County in 1800, and many years later, was thinly populated. The roads were paths or cart-tracks, incapable of handling even a 4-wheel wagon. The people were self-sufficient. They grew corn, wheat, pigs, cattle, and made liquor. They could not expand for they had no way to get crops to market. Hogs and cattle had to be driven many miles on foot. There were no towns. Pittsboro was struggling to begin, and what is now Siler City, was Love's Creek with the Siler farm nearby. The regional roads, or tracks, were built on the ridges. The farms were in the lowlands. You could ride through Chatham and see hardly a soul.

In 1800, Francis Poythress, who was one of the first Circuit preachers in North Carolina, was appointed presiding elder on a district embracing the following charges or circuits, which extended from Asheville to Cape Hatteras, and from Wilmington to the Virginia line. They were Morganton, Swannanoa, Yadkin, Salisbury, Haw River, Guilford, Franklin, Caswell, Tar River, Newbern, Graham, Wilmington, Contentea, Pamlico, Roanoke, Mattamuskeet, and Banks. On this District there was a membership of 4429 whites and 1253 blacks (Methodism in North Carolina, Grisson, Vol. 1, pp. 214-15).

In 1801, James Douthet was appointed presiding elder of the Salisbury District. The District embraced the following circuits: Caswiee, Guilford, Yadkin, Morganton, Swannanoa, Salisbury, Haw River and Franklin. He located in 1803.

Again in the year 1983, we modern Methodists must realize the hardships of the ministers of that older time. They traveled on horseback circuits much larger than our present Districts. They had no home—so could not marry. There were friendly houses, called preacher houses, where they could wash their clothes and rest. After a few years, they were forced by stress of health to locate for awhile and rest. If they married, they had to locate. After locating a few years some would start all over again.

In 1803? (the date is presently fuzzy), at the quarterly meeting on the Caswell Circuit, Jonathan Jackson, presiding elder of the Newbern district, was present as a visitor, and made this report: "At Hickory Mountain on the Haw River Circuit, we had the greatest time that had ever been seen there. The power of the Lord came down on Saturday like a mighty rushing wind, and appeared to rest on the congregation during the meeting" (Methodism in North Carolina, Grisson, Vol. 1, pp. 319, 20).

Now we come to one of the famous pioneer preachers of Methodism, Thomas Mann. On April 21, 1805, Thomas Mann was presiding elder of the Salisbury District. When he wrote in his diary: "We rode to Hickory Mountain. I preached from Matthew 10:7, and there was a move and a shout, and I exhorted. Brother Robert Wilkerson exhorted, and the move died away. We administered the sacrament. My mind and body hurt, though. We had a great shout and joined three black people in society. We rode to Thomas Reeves, and Brother Wilkerson walked out in the evening and talked about old times, and all the pains of preaching, the pains of stopping, traveling, etc."

In 1812 and 1913, Thomas Mann was preacher on the Haw River Circuit, and preached at Hickory Mountain on several occasions, and visited with

William Perry, Gideon Goodwin, and Benjamin Harris. There was a two-day meeting in June 1813. Thomas Crutchfield exhorted. The folks must have gotten stirred up. He reported: "We had a shout and a dance—it was too wicked for me."

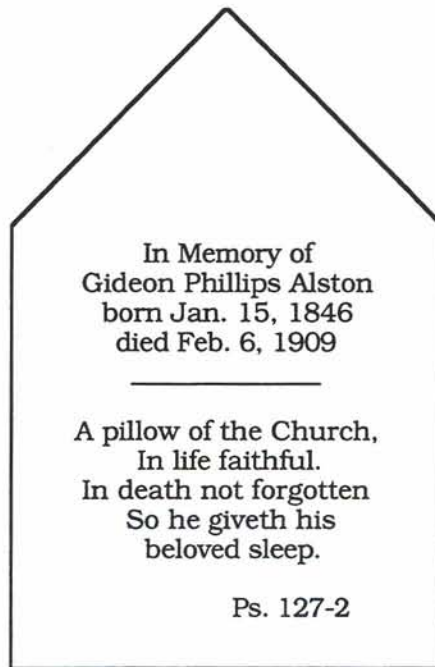

At this time I leave my manuscript and present in evidence two deeds, the first dated July 19, 1932, and the second dated July 24, 1856. I will conclude the historical notes at this time with a review of these instruments.

The 1832 deed transferred 4 acres of land to the trustees of Hickory Mountain Church from Joseph John Alston. The price was one dollar; and the deed was attested by Philip K. Alston, the seller's (or donor's) half-brother, who built and lived in the "House on the Horseshoe" now a state monument. Joseph John Alston was known as Chatham Jack, and was the owner of 40,000 acres of land, practically all the land between the present Pittsboro and Siler City. The trustees listed on this deed were listed as Edward Perry, Thomas Crutchfield, Lewis Lutterloh, Turpee Perry, Henry Rogers, William Perry, John Cole and Joseph John Alston. It was stipulated that a house of worship would be built on this land, which was at the junction of the Cumberland or Fayetteville road and the Raleigh or Stage Coach Road, from Raleigh to Salisbury. There is no record that his land reverted, which it would, if no church building had been constructed.

Twenty four years later, a second deed transferred 3 acres of land to the trustees of Hickory Mountain Church from Robert P. Alston. The testators were Joseph Johnson and John George. The trustees listed in 1856 were: Innis A. Alston, Oliver McMath, I.E. Nettles, George Rogers, William Fike, R.N. Green, B.E. Brown, Obadiah Henderson, and Samuel B. Perry.

There were Methodist preachers in the immediate area since 1779. Before 1797 the circuit was called New Hope. After, Haw River.

Dedication of the Church

This drawing is a likeness of the white stone that is built into the brick on the left front of the church. The stone itself is not dated. This stone is 36 1/2" tall and is 18" wide. A letter from Katharine Mann Williams states that in 1887, a Mr. Gideon Alston, who would have been 41 years old at the time based on the above birth date, gave the keys for Hickory Mountain Methodist Episcopal Church South (?) to an Oscar Brent Mann, aged 17, to open the church and organize worship. It's unclear whether this was a new building or if it was a name change and re-organization for the original log building named Hickory Mountain Chapel which existed in 1798. We have records of only one building between 1798 and the early 1900's.

Hickory Mountain United Methodist Church
1960 to the present time

This drawing is a close likeness of the church as it now appears and has remained unchanged since it was turned to face West, built on to and brick veneered in 1960. Notice the metal roof shingles, the roof line, the gable vent and the windows remain unchanged from the way it was originally constructed. Even though the modern day roads and travel have passed it by from the once well traveled and significant geographic location on which it was originally built, this quaint little country church now known as Hickory Mountain United Methodist Church will always remain at the center of the heart, the lives and the memories of each of the families of Hickory Mountain Community.

Hickory Mountain Methodist Church
early 1900's to 1960

This drawing is from a photograph taken by my Mother, Margie Woody Campbell, in May 1958. The photo didn't include the entire church plus portions of the front of the church were blocked by people in the photo making it impossible to determine the exact detail of the steps and stoop. This is the way the wood frame church which was painted white looked from the early 1900's when it still faced South to the then Old Stage or Raleigh Road until it was turned ninety degrees to face West in 1960. The church was also built on to and brick veneered after being turned to face West.

Hickory Mountain Chapel
1798 to the early 1900's

No one now knows for sure the appearance or exact location of the original Hickory Mountain Chapel. This "new meeting house" existed when Bishop Asbury visited in 1798 and was located in the Hickory Mountain Community near the old Fayetteville - Cumberland Road which ran from Fayetteville to Guilford Courthouse. It is recorded that Bishop Asbury traveled this road from the North-East to reach Hickory Mountain Chapel. The old Raleigh - Salisbury Road also ran through the Hickory Mountain Community and crossed the Fayetteville - Cumberland Road in the same general area. You can still see the traces of this old road on the South side of the church just behind the well pump house. Description of this structure was passed on to me by my Mother, Margie Woody Campbell, as passed on to her from other old time Church members and from Pastor Charles Hubbard. This drawing is my conception of what Hickory Mountain Chapel could have looked like. It was described to me as a long two story log building. You entered the second floor by way of an outside stairway that went up the side of the building. The hired hands of the farm had living quarters on the second floor and when there was a Sunday service they would come down the stairs and enter the bottom floor for worship. This building was very humble and practical in appearance and had stalls built onto the sides in which the farm goats were stabled. Pastor

Charles Hubbard, pastor of Hickory Mountain from 1982 to 1991, searched for the remnants or any clue as to the exact location of this Chapel, however, his search was unsuccessful.

The first burial at the present Sanctuary was in 1907 so it can only be assumed that during the 109 years between 1798 and 1907 that all deceased members were buried at other churches or in family cemeteries on the farms as was common in that time. It is also interesting to note that four acres of land was deeded to the Trustees of Hickory Mountain Church from Joseph John Alston in 1832 which began at a Persimmon tree on an old road leading from the Fayetteville Road to the Raleigh Road. A second deed transferred three acres to the Trustees of Hickory Mountain Church from Robert P. Alston in 1856 which began at a Dogwood bush on the South side of the old Stage Road (old Raleigh Salisbury Road). Both these deeds describe the land the present Sanctuary was built on in the early 1900's. It is believed that the original log Chapel was located near the Alston house which would have put it a considerable modern day distance from the present Sanctuary and would more accurately account for the dual purpose as a farm building and meeting house. Even though the land was deeded by the Alston family in 1832 and 1856, the Civil war which began around 1860 and other hard times most likely prevented the present Sanctuary from being built until the early 1900's.

HICKORY MOUNTAIN UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

by Katharine Mann Williams , November 21, 1993

In the beginning people met in homes and called themselves members of the Methodist Society. About this time Francis Asbury rode in on horseback and preached in the homes. Before 1798 he visited Chatham County two more times, then in 1798 he came to Thomas Reeves and preached at a new meeting house on Hickory Mountain which was called Hickory Mountain Chapel. It probably was a log cabin.

In 1800 Bishop Asbury visited Hickory Mountain Chapel as part of the Haw River circuit. After that he headed north the last time after five visits. Hickory Mountain was located at the crossroads of the Cumberland Road and Stage (Old Raleigh) Road known as the center, north and south, east and west of Methodism in North Carolina. The church was located on the north side of the stagecoach road south of the building.

In 1812-1813 Thomas Mann served as preacher on the Haw River Circuit and preached at Hickory Mountain on several occasions.

By 1856 Robert P. Alston deeded land to the Methodist Episcopal Church South upon approval by the annual conference according to the discipline for Hickory Mountain. In the early 1900's the present frame building was constructed and in 1960 the present frame building was turned around to face the road on the west, built the education building and brick veneered both buildings.

The Thomas Mann already mentioned was an ancestor of the Mann clan. At the age of seventeen Oscar Brent Mann was given the keys to Hickory Mountain Methodist Episcopal Church South by Mr. Gideon Alston in 1887 to open the church and organize worship on Sunday afternoons. He began with three others the first time. By 1920 there was a full program with the house filled each Sunday for Sunday School and once a month preaching was held. During Oscar Mann's life he served as teacher, Sunday School Superintendent, sang in the choir and was a member of the board of stewards. For several years his wife Stella Mann taught junior boys and girls, also she served as President of the Ladies Aid Society.

Oscar and Stella Mann's oldest daughter, Katharine served as pianist and Superintendent of the Sunday School for three years. In the meantime A. Morris Williams served as pastor three years.

Oscar's father, John Fletcher and mother, Louise Frances were among the first to be buried in the cemetery. A fund for the cemetery has been created by a donation to the North Carolina Methodist Foundation in Raleigh, North Carolina by Reverend A. Morris Williams and Katharine.

Fifty two years later Katharine and Morris Williams met again and were married in Hickory Mountain United Methodist Church as both their spouses had died.

Later Horace Mann served as Sunday School Superintendent and member of the board of trustees. During that time the building was turned around, educational building added and both buildings were brick veneered. After all indebtedness had been paid Horace had the privilege to help burn the mortgage. During this, Rev. W.L. Maness, retired, served as pastor of Hickory Mountain United Methodist Church, then on the Pittsboro Charge.

Maxine Bowers Tillman, 1-5-94

Hickory Mountain United Methodist Church is one of the oldest in the area. It first started meeting in homes. The present church was built in the early 1900's on land donated by Robert Alston. It was brick veneered and an educational building was added in the early 1960's Today it is still the simple little country church.

My grandparents, John and Mattie Bowers, were members having died during flu epidemic in 1933 and are buried in the church cemetery. They had thirteen children, two died in infancy, all the others were active in the church. My parents were Willie and Eva Bowers. They were both active in both the church and community. She was Superintendent of the church and taught Sunday school until her health forced her to give it up just prior to her death. He was active as a Trustee and helped dig graves and knew where everyone was buried in the cemetery.

My earliest memories was going to church up the path through the woods from the Alston house where we were all born. Dad always started the fires in the wood stove. Mama always kept the church clean. I can remember the preacher was a constant visitor at our home for Sunday dinner. He would announce in church he would be going home with us for lunch. It seemed we always had plenty.

When I was about eight, we moved from the Alston house to a couple of miles from the church. We still walked the two miles to church on Sunday and usually were the first ones there.

All my life I can remember how devoted the Bowers family was to the church and how they loved the church. Today the family is still active in the leadership of the church and a majority of attendance today has Bowers connections.

I am proud to have been brought up in Hickory Mountain Church and for the fellowship over the years in connection with the church and its activities.

Floyd E. Bowers Jr.
January 1994

I attend church services regularly at Hickory Mountain, and occasionally on a day off, I go to the church and, "check things out." This is a narrative of one of those times.

"It's cold inside the church today as I check to see if all the doors are locked and that everything is in place. Out in the pump house the heat lamp is burning and as I close the door and head back to my car, I make a round to the cemetery. The ground is frozen as I cross the yard, snowflakes are falling and the wind is cutting. As I pass the stones marked Eubanks, Elixson, Ellis, Woody, Rogers, Ferguson and Sturdivant, I try to imagine how these people may have worshiped here years ago on a cold day like this. I imagine that the old woodstove in the church had a crowd gathered around it."

"Continuing my stroll, I note the names of Webster, Mann, Francisco, Cooper, Keck, Stanley, Jones and Womble on other gravestones." "Gosh, it's cold out here today", I say to myself. "As I near the road, I see a long row of gravestones with the name Bowers carved on them. I start near the woods and movesouthward while reading the names of Willie and Eva, Alf and Margaret, Nettie, Walter, Nellie, Lillie, Evie, John and Mattie, Eddie, Floyd, Robert (Bob) and Leola. Only one of this Bowers family is not buried at Hickory Mountain. That is Johnnie. He is buried at Chatham Memorial Park near Siler City."

"I'm trying to remember my years as a youngster at Hickory Mountain. As I stand in the cemetery this cold morning I recall the Bowers men and other church members, digging gravesites for those who would rest out their days here. I also remember Mr. Eddie, or Doy as he was called, jingling his pocket change as the preacher prayed. Eddie was the church treasurer. I remember Mrs. Eva standing in front of her Sunday School class getting everyone's attention, and Miss Lillie playing the piano and directing our children's day program. We later called this event Homecoming. I remember all the apple pies Nettie and Nellie made for Homecoming Dinner. I remember Uncle Walt taking me out one day after Sunday School and showing me the corner points of the church property. 'Some day you will need to know where they are', he told me. I remember my dad, Floyd, playing Santa Claus for our Christmas programs. I also remember the church humor of Margaret, and the quietness of Robert or 'Bob'."

The Bowers family has always attended Hickory Mountain and today you will find the third and fourth generation of family members at Sunday services. For some reason, I was chosen Sunday School Superintendent at the age of sixteen. Today, thirty-three years later, I still hold that position.

"As I get into my car and prepare to leave, I look back across the cemetery and on this day a certain stone catches my eye. It's a homemade, white-rock headstone with the name Bowers carved on a section of white marble set in the center. This is beginning of the Bowers family at Hickory Mountain. As I drive away, I sincerely and quietly say "Thank you to my grandparents, Mr. John and Mrs. Mattie Bowers'."

Mary Rhyme Von Cannon,
Preacher at Hickory Mountain United Methodist Church
from June 1991 to the present

The people of this congregation are wonderful people for these reasons: First of all, they love the Lord and His people and take care of His Church. They are so faithful and come Sunday after Sunday and don't miss a one unless they are sick. They are always willing to take any office in the church and are not afraid to take on any responsibility if they can help the Lord and His Church. One could not help but love these people because of their faithfulness to the Church and their love for Him and His people. As their pastor, I feel very privileged to be a part of Hickory Mountain United Methodist Church.

Peace always,

Rev. Mary Rhyme Von Cannon, January 1994

The Church and Family
By Margie Woody Campbell
as recorded by Marlon Campbell on 12-19-93

The Methodist Church existed in the Hickory Mountain Community as far back as 1798. Most church families lived within five miles of the church. There were many families who attended church even though times were hard. My grandparents, Nathan Spence Woody and his wife Anna Johnson Woody, lived approximately one half mile below the church in the same old house that I was living in when I married Clyde on June 3, 1944. Nathan and Anna were often observed by neighbors on Sunday mornings walking their family to church. The children were Ozzie Woody Ellis, George Woody, Dallie Woody Crews, Josie Woody Womble, Nellie Woody Cox, Walter Woody, and Clatie Woody Clark. The family moved in 1924 to the Mount Zion Church Community down the Pitsboro - Moncure Road but loved the Hickory Mountain Community and wanted to be buried at Hickory Mountain Methodist Church. My grandfather, Nathan, died while Clyde was in the Army during the second world war in October 1945. My son, Marlon, and my first cousin, Tommy Crews, were about seven months old at this time. My father, George Woody, married Mary Dixon of the Pleasant Hill Church Community near the old Burke School House in 1925. George and Mary had seven children, Margie Woody Campbell, George Woody, Jr. (Buck), Louise Woody Brown, Lois Woody Phillips, Alice Woody Alford, David Woody, and Linda Faye Woody who lived approximately 1 month. Buck died January 8, 1971 during open heart surgery.

My husband, Clyde Campbell, and his family also lived in the Hickory Mountain Community and attended Hickory Mountain Church. In approximately 1932, when Clyde was eleven, his family moved to the Mount Gilead Church Community East of Pitsboro on the old Pea Ridge Road. When Clyde was twenty one, he returned to the Hickory Mountain Community. We dated approximately one year and were married on Clyde's 23rd. birthday, June 3, 1944. I was eighteen and had just graduated from high school on May 15, 1944. We have six wonderful children, Marlon, Wayne, J.E., Phyllis Campbell Robertson, Ricky and Dennis plus fourteen grandchildren.

All Clyde's family loved the church and community and most of them wanted to be brought back and buried at Hickory Mountain Church. Clyde's grandparents were Joseph and Fronnie Ray Campbell and Clyde's parents were Hesikiah (Kye) and Maggie Hackney Campbell. Clyde's Uncle and Aunt, June and Mattie Campbell, are buried at Hickory Mountain. My Uncle and Aunt, Ambrose and Ella Campbell Woody, lived in Graham and also wanted to be brought back and buried at Hickory Mountain. It is our wish that we, Margie and Clyde Campbell, be buried at Hickory Mountain.

The first person to be buried at Hickory Mountain Methodist Church was Doris Mann Campbell, the daughter of Oren Campbell in 1907. The second person buried at Hickory Mountain was Fletcher Mann, father of Oscar Mann and grandfather of Horace, Catherine, Viola, Stella and Fletcher Mann (deceased). The Mann family, especially Oscar and Stella and their two older daughters, Katherine and Viola who both married preachers, had a big influence on my life as a teenager. The Ferguson family also greatly influenced my life while growing up.

The families of the Hickory Mountain Church and Community have produced at least three recent pastors; William (Bill) Thomas who married Shirley Ellis, Lonnie Murry who married Viola Ellis and Womack Keck, son of Elmer (deceased) and Cora Dixon Keck. There are also several recent law officers from the church families; Glenn Hackney, son of William (deceased) and Vivian Dixon Hackney, Charles (Chuck) Hackney, son of Johnny and Josie Hackney and Randy Keck, son of Alton and Martha Keck. Many older church family members also had important positions. Joseph Campbell was a county deputy and official of the court. Nathan Spence Woody was a county deputy and coroner.

Micky Brown, grandson of Joe and Coleen Hackney Brown, is presently mayor of Robbins, NC.

Memories
By Marlon Campbell
1-17-94

My earliest memory of Hickory Mountain is attending Revival at approximately 10 years old with my Mother, Margie Woody Campbell. I can remember it was extremely hot because I was barefooted and wore only short pants and no shirt. This was in approximately 1955 and Revivals were well attended at that time. Even though Hickory Mountain was a small building, I remember thinking that this was the most people that I had ever seen at one time. Other memories include attending Morning Worship Service in the wood frame church and then attending Sunday School after rooms were built on to the church. However, I cannot remember the names of my Sunday School teachers. The Sunday School teachers and pastors of Hickory Mountain greatly influenced my young life at that time and I give them part credit for planting the seeds of Christianity in me. I pray my life continues to demonstrate their worthy efforts.

On Sunday morning during the summer time before and after the wood frame church was turned around, we often had as many wasps flying overhead as there were people attending the worship service. It was awful hard for us young boys to pay attention to the preacher when we were being intertained by a wasp making an occasional landing on someone's head. The cemetery had many striped lizards at that time and occasionally, one of these lizards would enter the church during service and much to the delight of us young boys would scamper across the floor. There wasn't as much grass around the church or in the cemetery in the 50's as it is now. My brothers Wayne, J.E., and myself had a lot of fun looking for "Indian money" in the cemetery and around the church. These were small rocks that were perfect square in shape and were in different sizes, some as large as 3/4". These rocks were natural to that area but I now haven't seen one in years. My Grandfather, George Woody, told us these square rocks were "Indian money".

I can remember very plainly when the church building faced South and could never figure out why the church had been built sideways. As a boy, I knew nothing of the Old Stage Road that ran East and West or that the church had originally been built to face that road. I remember this old white wood frame building being turned around, built on to and brick veneered even though I wasn't active in attendance in 1960. All the families contributed money to this project and I am told that the Campbells of the church donated the money to buy the brick. My Father, Clyde Campbell, was a welder and tinsmith at this time for the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill. I remember that he built two metal sign frames and post that signs bearing the church name were hung on. One was placed in the front yard of the church and the other was placed at the end of the road at Highway 64 so people could find the church or know a church was there. The church name was still Hickory Mountain Methodist Church at that time. Also, about this time, my Dad bought a brand new 2 wheel David Bradley garden tractor from Sears and a sickle mower came with the tractor. I remember Mom tending the store one Saturday in the early summer so Dad and myself could go mow the tall weeds and grass that had grown up on the church yard. This took about all day and I remember the Pastor expressing thanks to Dad the following Sunday morning.

I can still see the faces in my mind of many of the people of Hickory Mountain and will always have fond memories of them. I especially remember the Johnny and Myrtle Bowers family as I was a overnight guest in their home several times and became friends with their children, Earl (Sonny Boy), Warren, and Martha Ann. I guess I was like any other young person and could be a pest at times but the Bowers family were always nice to me and tolerated my presence.

Even though I prefer to be buried at Antioch Baptist Church in the White Cross community where I now live, I have many relatives buried at Hickory Mountain including all four grandparents and four of my great grandparents. Yes, Hickory Mountain United Methodist Church will always be special to me and it is my wish and prayer that the book which now contains my drawings and these memories will also be as special to those who follow.
